Next Meeting February 8, 2020

A potluck is planned for lunch and we will be sewing until 4:00pm

Please bring your sewing machine and supplies to help make caring quilts or vet quilts. I will have a simple star pattern to do that we don't have to worry about cutting off points. Please bring enough fabric to make at least two stars of light, medium, and dark fabrics. You should have at least 1/2 yard of each color.

Also bring any project you are working one for help. I will also do a demo on bindings. These will be simple ones so bring something to bind, Just a quilt square will work. We can make samples of different kinds.

If you have any questions you may contact Lida.

used. A list of vets who have received quilts will be provided for the newsletter.

Connie Barry provided this year's challenge rules. Participants were given a paper bag containing items. Rules are: 1-Use ALL items in your bag, making ANYTHING desired. 2-Be creative and have fun. 3-Return to the July 11 meeting to be judged. 4-Have fun!

Bev Shiflet announced that Ugly Fabric bags brought today were numbered and each participant was to pick up their new bag at the end of the meeting. Finished projects are to be returned to the June meeting. If unable to attend, arrangements to get the project to the meeting must be made.

Tammy Marty introduced Block of the Month. The pattern for the first six blocks was available or obtainable on the web. The last two months will be paper piecing.

Nancy Phillips, our historian, has several albums of pictures available for enjoyment.

Shari Davis reminded those who had vending tables that they were to remove items not sold or traded today after the meeting.

Chana and Bev sent around a sign up sheet for the refreshment table.

Lida Lety introduced Judy Clay, who will teach the Hunter Star class in March. Judy showed her beautiful quilt. Four blocks will be made using two colors. A ruler and pattern book are available for $20.00. Class cost is $5.00.

Lida sent around a clipboard to list areas of interest and ideas for future programs.

Cynda Clay will be responsible for the newsletter this year. Please send items to her for inclusion in the newsletter.

Della Collins reported that she sent a card to Sallie Waldron after her home burned. Please call Della for Sunshine requests.

Sue Caven announced that WIP lists are to be given to her. When completed projects are shared in Sew and Share, they will be marked off of the list.

Rita Sussman is in charge of the web. She said the WIP form is included on the web.

Trish Tuin reminded members that she is having a committee rewrite the sewing/craft section of the Needlework department of the fair. A person to assist Trish and learn to manage the fair is needed.

Trish explained to new members about the Raffle Quilt.

Patty Howell, Alice McCracken, Sallie Waldron and Sharon Schmidt are the members who are in charge of the Raffle license.

Cynda Clay reported on the 2021 Raffle Quilt. She and Margaret Osborn have decided on the pattern and purchased wool for it.

Ivy Rezak volunteered to be in charge of the Raffle tickets and venues for the year.

Diane Ballinger announced that the 2020 quilt will be revealed when the tickets are available.

Tera Levy announced that a new quilt to display in the Hotchkiss library is needed. Quilts are displayed for two months.

Under old business new members were told they could obtain their name tags already made or get a pattern to make one themselves.

New business included an announcement by Connie that the National Christmas tree for 2020 is coming from Colorado. Quilt guilds are asked to make Christmas tree skirts for it as well as for the many other trees that will be sent from Colorado for offices of Colorado VIPS.

Connie also announced a celebration of life service and potluck for our deceased member and friend, Nancy Alfero. It will be May 9, her 75th birthday, from 12-4 at the Stolte Shed in Cedaredge.

Our meeting in February will be a Sew day and potluck after our meeting.

There was no new business.

The meeting was adjourned followed by Sew and Share, refreshments, and buying and trading quilting treasures.

Respectfully submitted,
Margie Hollembeak
